Statement from the Prime Minister of Canada

It is with great pleasure that I join with Canada's public works professionals to mark the 2018 National Public Works Week, hosted by the Canadian Public Works Association.

This week celebrates and recognizes the role that public works plays in communities across Canada. National Public Works Week is a great opportunity to highlight the tireless efforts of our entire public works community in Canada who are dedicated to improving our quality of life by designing, building, operating and maintaining our public infrastructure.

Please accept my warmest regards and best wishes for a memorable and successful National Public Works Week!
